

Hazel is starting to sing. Before she would just shout loudly but she's starting to get a melody occasionally and making up her own songs. If I could only remember the words . . .