

  Following a family dinner Friday night which turned into a Pinkalicious gift giving extravanza, we had an outdoor picnic party for Hazel on her actual birthday with some of her friends from the neighbourhood. Aline had baked a beautiful cake which met Hazel's three requirements: a unicorn, a rainbow and pink. The weather had forecasted rain but it held off and was nice outside where the kids played chase, find the marshmallows with a blindfold and spoon, and dragged each other around in a wagon in the backyard. Andrew and Geoff made mistake of helping. The rest of the parents chatted in the front until the party ended around 2:30. Good times. Hazel was pretty well-behaved and with a little gentle reminder thanked her friends for the gifts.
