

First tooth

Sunday, 25 September 2011 00:00

  Hazel went to the dentist for the first earlier this week and was told she had two loose teeth. She has been wiggling one of the bottom ones at the front regularly since then at by lunchtime Sunday you could see it was ready to come out as it hurt her to bite down on some corn. So with a little gentle nudging she let me pull it out. Quick and painless. She had been a sourpuss all morning but her mood picked up considerably with the excitement of a potential visit from the tooth fairy who she knows through the Pinkalicious series of books.