

Little Sam climbed up the stairs today for the first time. Not once. Not twice. But on three separate occasions. Aline says that when he made it up to the top the first time - he giggled with glee.