

Aline is off on a girls only weekend leaving me alone with both kids for . . . for the first time. Wisely I kept Sam up a little later Saturday night so that he slept in till 6:30 AM Sunday morning for me. I heard him begin to protest his jail cell then and Hazel went to investigate while I pulled the covers over my ears. She came back to tell me that Sam wants 'Down'. After breakfast I told Hazel we would play hide and seek. I hid in bed. The kids found me. And sadly didn't understand the game change to Let Sleeping Dogs Lie. Or Dead Jungle Gym. Or Don't Poke A Dead Man.