

Way to go little guy!

Sam's been wearing underwear for about a month now without any accidents. He knows what the potty's for and he's using it. Even at night when we still put him in his diapers - he's making it to the morning and going then.

Awesome.